ON THE DESCHUTES RIVER

A RIVER CAMP FOR TENTS

We built Cedar Flats so every guest wakes to water or pines, not a parking lot. Tent sites, RV hookups and safari tents with real beds sit along the Deschutes River, twenty minutes from Bend.

YOUR HOSTS ON THE DESCHUTES

A small campground run by people who know the river well.

Cedar Flats sits where the pines meet the Deschutes River, twenty minutes from Bend. We keep the office open long hours and the sites simple: a tent pad, a hookup, or a safari tent with a real bed, each one backing onto the water or the trees.

We're here from 8am to 8pm to help with anything you need for the stay.

01

A TENT SITE ON THE DESCHUTES RIVER

Pitch your own tent twenty minutes from Bend, Oregon. Every site backs onto the river or the pines.

YOUR OWN PITCH BY THE WATER

Riverfront or pine-shaded pitch

Every tent site backs onto the Deschutes River or straight into the pines.

Pitch your own tent

Bring your own tent and set up on a private site by the water or the trees.

Near Bend, Oregon

Close to town, right on the Deschutes River.

02

RV SITES WITH HOOKUPS BY THE RIVER

Back onto the Deschutes River or the pines, twenty minutes from Bend. Hook up, settle in, and let the water do the rest.

EVERYTHING YOUR RIG NEEDS

Hookups at your site

Every RV site comes with hookups, ready when you arrive.

River or pine frontage

Every site backs onto the Deschutes River or the pines.

Twenty minutes from Bend

Close enough for a day in town, far enough for the river.

Office open 8am–8pm

Check in or ask a question any time the office is open.

03

CANVAS CAMPING WITH A REAL BED

Safari tents on the Deschutes River or in the pines, twenty minutes from Bend, Oregon.

WHAT YOU GET IN A SAFARI TENT

A real bed

Every safari tent has a real bed, not an air mattress or a cot.

River or pine setting

Every site, including the safari tents, backs onto the Deschutes River or the pines.

Canvas, not nylon

A safari tent gives you a sturdy canvas shelter instead of a backpacking tent.

THE RIVER IS RIGHT OUTSIDE

Pines or river, every site

Every site at Cedar Flats backs onto the Deschutes River or the pine forest.

Real beds in the safari tents

Skip the air mattress. Our safari tents come with real beds.

RV hookups included

Pull in and plug in. Our RV sites come with hookups.

Near Bend, Oregon

Close enough for a night out, quiet enough to forget it.
