

Come face to face with saltwater crocodiles

Watch saltwater crocodiles fed from the jumping-croc boat, hold a hatchling and meet barramundi, turtles and birds of the Top End, just outside Darwin.

Bluewater
Croc Park

The working croc farm behind the feeding shows

Bluewater Croc Park sits on the Arnhem Highway outside Darwin, where saltwater crocodiles share the lagoon with barramundi, turtles and the birds of the Top End.

01

Watch crocs leap for lunch

Crocodile feeding shows run twice daily at Bluewater Croc Park on the Arnhem Highway near Darwin.

What happens at a feeding show

The crocs leap

Saltwater crocodiles launch clean out of the water to take their feed, metres from the boat.

Keeper commentary

Our keepers talk through croc behaviour and safety as the action happens.

Twice daily

Shows run at 11am and 2pm, every day the park is open.

Lagoon-side viewing

Watch from the jumping-croc boat or the bank, whichever you prefer.

02

Watch saltwater crocodiles leap from the water

Step aboard our jumping-croc boat and get close to the Top End's biggest predators as they launch for food, feeding shows twice daily.

What happens on the jumping croc cruise

Board the boat

Step onto the jumping-croc boat at the water's edge and head out onto the lagoon.

Crocs leap for food

Watch saltwater crocodiles launch clear of the water as our keeper feeds them from the boat.

Keeper commentary

Hear how these ancient predators hunt, while you stay safely on board.

Twice-daily timing

The cruise runs alongside our feeding shows, at 11am and 2pm, every day.

03

Hold a real baby crocodile

Cradle a hatchling saltwater crocodile in your hands with a keeper right beside you. A safe, hands-on moment for the whole family.

A hands-on croc encounter

Hold a hatchling

Cradle a baby saltwater crocodile, just centimetres long and calm in keeper-supervised hands.

Keeper by your side

A keeper guides every hold, so it stays safe and relaxed for kids and adults alike.

A photo to take home

A close-up moment with a real crocodile hatchling, worth remembering from your Top End trip.

Open to all ages

Families, tourists and school groups can all take a turn holding a hatchling.

Why Families Choose Bluewater

Two shows a day

Feeding shows run at 11am and 2pm, every day of your visit.

Family pass included

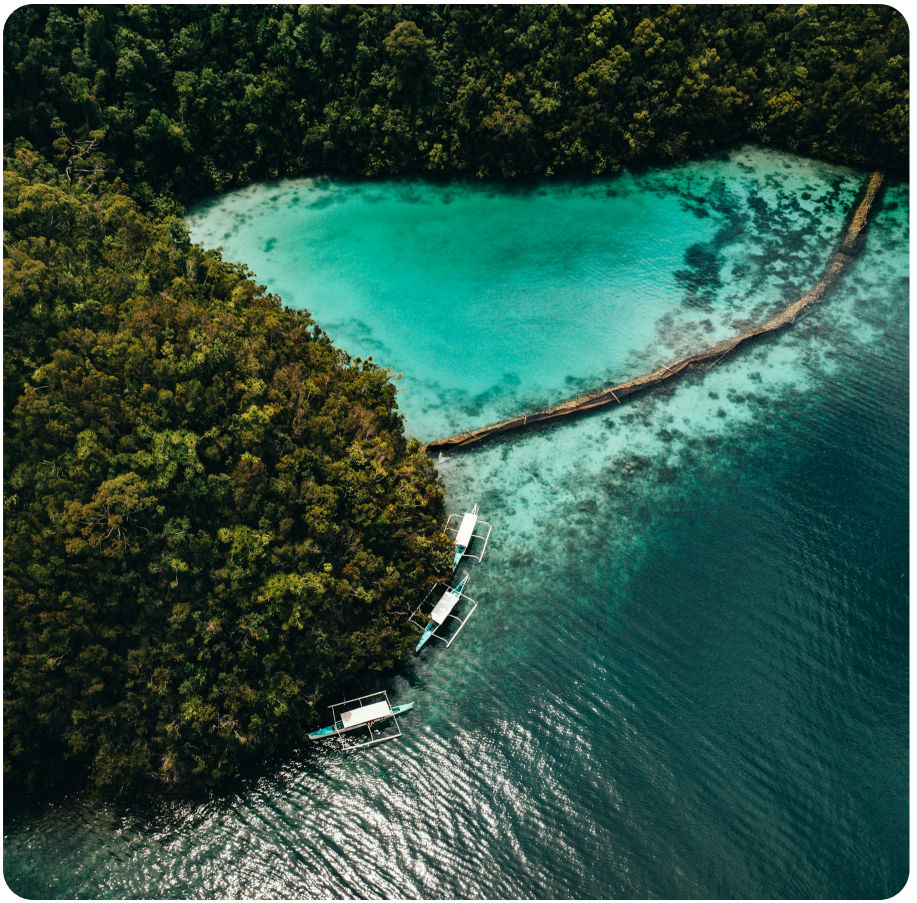

One ticket covers two adults and two children for $120.

Easy highway access

Find us right on the Arnhem Highway, outside Darwin.

Hands-on encounters

Hold a hatchling and get close to saltwater crocodiles safely.

A DAY AT THE PARK

Plan Your Day Out

1. Pick your time
   Check the daily schedule and choose a feeding show time to build your visit around.

2. Get in touch
   Reach out to arrange tickets, pricing and any group or school bookings.

3. Arrive and explore
   Walk the park, meet the wildlife and find your feeding show on the lagoon.

4. Feed time
   Watch crocodiles leap from the jumping-croc boat at 11am or 2pm.

A LOOK INSIDE

Inside the Park

Jumping crocodile boat cruise

Hold a baby crocodile

Crocodile feeding lagoon

Come face to face with saltwater crocodiles

Feeding shows twice daily, a family pass for $120, and a day out the kids won't stop talking about.

08 5550 3172

bluewater-croc-park.sitepages.app
steve@bluewatercrocpark.com.au
Arnhem Highway, near Darwin NT

Bluewater Croc Park